WHAT THE LAW BOOKS SAY

Ruling Case Law which is said by lawyers to be one of the most reliable and accurate text books or encyclopedias of law says that the courts have held the following lists of employments to be acts of necessity and therefore not punishable as violation of Sunday observance laws:

"The making of repairs in a factory so as to prevent employees from losing time; repairing of a railroad track on Sunday to avoid delay of trains on week days; keeping open a hotel, restaurant or dining room; of a exercise by abarber of his trade; the operation of an ice factory; running trains for passengers, mail and express freight; delivery of milk to customers; and THE HAULING TO MARKET OF FRUIT OR PRODUCE TO AVOID ITS SPOILING."

In the 6th volume of the Virginia Law Register which is a law magazine dealing particularly with Virginia jurisprudence on page 692, in a note written by W. M. Lile, then the editor of the Law Register and now the Dean of the Law Department of the University of Virginia, this language occurs:

"In view of this peculiar language (referring to 'laboring at a trade or calling'), and of the construction put upon the English statutes and those American statutes which like the Virginia statutes are similar to, though not identical with the English prototype it would seem that the VIRGINIA STATUTE IS FAR FROM PREVENTING ALL SECULAR BUSINESS ON THE LORD'S DAY."

The language of the Virginia statute is directed towards the prevention of manual labor or the conduct of business of such a nature and in such open and notorious manner as to disturb the tranquility of the Sabbath or offend the religious sensibilities of the community and bring the Sabbath day into contempt."

An interesting tobacco warehouse bill dated April 30th, 1875 was shown here today. This indicates that 98 pounds of leaf sold for $352.15, the warehouse charges deducted totalling $10.80. W. J. Still owned the leaf and the warehouse bill is made out in his name.

The document contains advertisement of the Star warehouse where the sale was made, its capacity at that date being 130,000 pounds. C. D. Langhorne, father of Nancy Astor, appears on the bill as auctioneer, the officers of the Danville Tobacco Board of Trade being also given. Peter W. Ferrell was president, T. L. Brown, vice-president, and Jed Carter, secretary and treasurer.

Police Find Auto Driver to Be Blameless

No Warrant Out for Campbell Following Enquiry Into Design Road Crash—Coroner's Inquest Will Be Held Friday.

Investigation made by the police into the automobile accident last Saturday night which cost Mrs. William O. Turner her life has resulted in the decision of the authorities to issue no warrant against Ben Campbell, driver of the car. It was stated yesterday that such a warrant would be issued as a matter of course but that was prior to the enquiry made by local police officers who have questioned occupants of the car and who concur in the belief Campbell was not to blame but that the accident was due to the glaring lights of a machine coming in the opposite direction.

Chief of Police Bell said that there was no evidence on which to base a warrant at the present time and it appeared to him unlikely that any would be issued.

Police Detective J. C. Lewis made exhaustive enquiry yesterday and talked to Campbell, also to William Turner who is still nursing injuries sustained in the wreck which took place near Bernard's shop. Campbell's statement and that of Turner both bear out the version given by Miss Annie Phelps given on Monday, that the rays from a brilliant headlight of

ON TRIAL

Big White Rat Is Killed On Green St.

Mrs. Ivy Giberson, Lakehurst, N. J., goes on trial today, charged with the slaying of her husband. Officials charge she shot him while he slept. She maintains he was slain by thieves.

George S. Dyer, clerk of the markets, exhibited today a large white rat which his son, Gus Dyer, killed last night at the family residence on Green street. The rat walked calmly into the parlor, whereupon Dyer closed the door and a savage assault with brooms and a poker resulted in the rodent's death. The rat measured eight inches from the tip of its tail to its snout. This is the second white rat seen in that vicinity. Mr. Dyer's cat having caught a smaller one a few days ago.

Pair Accept Girl Baby After Denying Parentage

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Oct. 10.—Edward Rich and his wife today accepted a girl baby as the child born to them recently at the Bergen Sanatorium, confined last night that their wife alone had inspired belief that their child was a boy.

The parents were held on a charge of abandonment last week when they flatly refused to accept the girl baby, insisting that some one at the hospital had mixed new-born babies and given them a baby not their own. The case was referred to Mayor Hague as arbitrator.

Today the mayor examined several witnesses before the parents, and the parents finally said they were convinced the girl baby was theirs.

Margaret Mitchell, a nurse at the sanatorium, admitted she had first listed the child on Mrs. Rich's chart as a male, but said this was a mistake which she quickly corrected. Other hospital employees also testified Mrs. Rich's child was a girl.

"Tiger of France" To Travel Alone

Clemenceau, 82, Comes Here on Solitary Mission, With No Official Obligation.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—Former Premier Clemenceau of France, who is coming to America to tell the duties of each people in the tremendous world crisis created by the war, will sail unaccompanied, on the French liner Paris Nov. 11, and is scheduled to reach New York on Nov. 18.

Despite his 82 years, the vigorous "Tiger of France" will not bring with him even a secretary, although he contemplates a strenuous American tour of about 32 days, during which he will deliver a series of addresses. He will enter this country as an individual, paying his own way, and the situation, the quest of no person, group or organization, and representing France neither officially, semi-officially nor otherwise.

These facts and something of the tenor of his plans and itinerary of Clemenceau were given last night by Col. E. M. House at his home, No. 112 East 74th Street. Col. House is an intimate friend and warm admirer of the former Premier, and has been in close touch with him since he returned from Paris in June.

Clemenceau expects to remain in this city about five days, during which he will stay at his own expense in one of the big hotels. He will deliver one address each day. The former premier will accept no invitations, private or public, will attend no banquets and will be visible to the public only when he is on the street or making his addresses in the afternoon or evening.

Clemenceau's attitude toward banquets and other entertainments is not adopted for America's special benefit. It is his custom to decline such invitations at home and elsewhere. His extreme age is the governing factor in this regard, and while he is far from feeble, he so arranges his life that he may retain his health and energy as long as possible.

Asked about his welcome down the bay and an enthusiastic greeting along the route to his hotel are under way, but not yet ready for announcement in detail.

From New York, Clemenceau will go to Boston for two days and from there to Chicago, Kansas City, Mo., probably will be his next stop. He will go to New Orleans either from Chicago or Kansas City. From the Louisiana capital he will go to Washington, D. C., where he will remain for the greater part of three days, probably Dec. 7, 8, and 9. He will call upon President Harding and, will pay his respects to former President Taft, for whom he has a great admiration.

House to Suggest Dates

Although Clemenceau himself does not know it yet, he probably will visit Baltimore and Philadelphia. Col. House suggests that he do so and has reason to believe "the Tiger" will accede gladly. Then he will come back to New York for a day and depart for home on the Paris, which sails Dec. 13.—This tentative itinerary, Col. House explained, is more than likely to be adhered to strictly, but he prefers to insert a "probably" as a safeguard.

Asked about the possible danger of depriving an aged Frenchman of his wine while in this country, Col. House said he could not recall seeing Clemenceau drink wine, and is of the opinion the former Premier does not indulge, possibly for physical reasons. He said Clemenceau will not be a guest at his home at any time during his visit to this city.

"Exactly what he is going to say on the platform," Col. House included himself. He is not coming here as a result of the Eudyard Kipling incident. He had decided to come long before that occurred. Whatever he may say, it will be his own and he will not be prompted by no government, party, group or individual other than himself."

CAN FARMERS ENTER DANVILLE TO BE TAKEN BEFORE JUDGE

The Register and Bee, with the support of ninety-five per cent. of the citizens of Danville, will immediately petition Judge D. Price Withers for a ruling on the State Sunday observance law. The local press, does not believe that it is a violation of the State law for farmers to enter the city on Sunday with their tobacco and to take refuge in a warehouse against the disagreeable weather that exists here during the tobacco marketing season. Under the new law it is not necessary for a test case in order to secure the Judge's decision.

Canadian Couple Are Married Here

Main Street Methodist Church was the scene of a pretty but quiet marriage this afternoon at two o'clock when Miss Fedia Thurston, of Toronto, Canada, became the bride of Russell St. Valentine Shields, also of Toronto. Rev. J. N. Latham, D. D., pastor of the church, was the celebrant. The bride came from Canada to meet her fiancé who is here for the week and Mrs. George Shields, of Toronto, mother of the bridegroom, accompanied her for the event, the bride's mother being ill in Canada and unable to attend. The nuptial event was witnessed by a group of friends, the setting being a beautiful one for the church was handsomely decorated. The bride is a daughter of Mrs. Gracella Thurston and widely known in her native city.

Mr. Shields served with distinction during the war with the Canadian Flying Corps in which he held a commission.

Soon after the wedding Mr. and Mrs. Shields left for Windsor, Ontario, where they will spend their honeymoon. They will later make their home in Canada.

Left $1 by Mother, Views $125,000 Statue

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—Mrs. Edith Hawthorne Simmons, of Sioux Falls, S. D., has come to New York to see "Civic Virtue" the statue by Frederick Macmonnies, which stands in City Hall park.

Mrs. Simmons was the daughter of Mrs. Angelina Crane, who died in 1914 in her fifth avenue home and bequeathed her $125,000 estate to New York city to be used in the erection of a "drinking fountain for man and beast." To her daughter, Mrs. Crane, left $1.

Mrs. Simmons feels a certain pride in the statue. She calls it "my statue." She feels that she paid for it in her home in South Dakota she read with interest—and a measure of sorrow—the phrase "denunciatory" which followed "Civic Virtue's" installation.

Once when she was a little girl living with her mother in New York she told Mrs. Crane that she thought it would be a good idea to build a fountain where dogs and birds and men could get a drink. Later she fell in love with Robert S. Simmons, a young physician. Her mother opposed the match, but they were married.

Dr. Simmons' father also opposed the marriage and left most of his estate to found Simmons College, at Abilene, Tex.

Mrs. Simmons says she likes the statue and has no bitterness about it. "If I could have had the $125,000 my life would have been different," she said, "but I don't know that it would have been any better or any happier. I probably would have stayed in New York and spent it on things which, after all, are useless."

Dr. Simmons says he intends to leave a few antiques and oil paintings, practically all that he got from his father's estate, to Simmons College.

Weather Ideal For Fair Now

The sharp drop in temperature overnight, the clearing of the storm clouds and the high wind prevailing most of today combined this morning to assist materially in offsetting the results of the opening day of the fair yesterday which was delayed from getting under way on account of the heavy rain.

The grounds this morning had dried appreciably and with cinders and sand, thickly spread about the main avenues they were in good condition. The crowd, which normally swarms about the grounds, was in the exhibition halls which have been generally commended.

This afternoon promises to be the best yet from the stand point of crowds and early after dinner people were entering the grounds. The free attractions are to be given at three o'clock and they will be repeated again at eight with the fireworks display to follow. This is known as Carolina Day. Tomorrow will be Danville day, usually the biggest of the four.

The first night of the Danville Fair which opened yesterday morning, was well attended, in fact the crowd was larger than was really expected because of the moist condition of the grounds due to the extremely heavy rainfall of Sunday and Monday. There were close to 3,000 persons on the grounds last night and although there was some discomfort, the crowds, the skies had cleared and prospects of bright crisp weather is in prospect for the remaining three days. Cinders and straw were spread about the wet grounds all day yesterday and by last night most of the mud spots had been eliminated, and provided there is no further rainfall, the grounds will be in excellent condition by tonight.

It may be said that the Fair had gotten in full swing by last night already. (Continued from Page Two.)

Murder Case Sent To the Grand Jury

Sam Davis and Willie Martin, colored, alleged slayers of Clyde Davis, who was shot and killed at his home Saturday night, were held for the grand jury after a preliminary hearing before Mayor this morning. The two negroes were taken back to jail after the hearing, no effort being made to get bond.

Very little evidence was heard in the case. The commonwealth put three witnesses on the stand while the defense did not introduce any evidence. Bertie Davis, wife of the dead negro, first took the stand. She said she and her husband were sitting at the table eating supper when a voice called from the outside. "Clyde, come to the door and answer the door," calling who it was. "Come to the door, it is nobody to hurt you," came the reply. Bertie at this stage of her testimony broke into tears and told the rest of her story between sobs. She said she heard a shot ring out, but did not see anybody, neither could she recognize the man's voice.

Emma Harvey then told of ill-feeling between Clyde Davis and Sam Davis and Willie Martin. She also said Martin was mad with her and had been trying to go with her.

Detective J. C. Lewis told of making the arrests and Sam Davis making a confession of being the man who shot Clyde Davis.

Get Early Start On Armistice Day Celebration Plans

Dr. Garnet Johnson, commander of the Danville Post, American Legion, will today appoint a full committee which will have charge of the annual local celebration of Armistice Day one month from today. The Legion officials will from now on prepare for the local celebration which promises to exceed in size any held here since the original one.

Congressman Heflin, of Alabama, whose presence was sought as a speaker, has written here saying that he cannot come to Danville to make a speech. Attorney-General John R. Saunders, however, consented to come and Congressman Hooker also will speak.

In the meantime, Miss Augusta Yates, who will have charge of the campaign to raise $25,000 for a suitable memorial for men who were in national service from Danville, is also at work on this major undertaking and has named several committees to cooperate with her.

EMPRESS ZITA, BROKE, Would Leave Spain

BARCELONA, Oct. 10.—Former Empress Zita is anxious to leave Spain where poverty compels her to play the poor relation, according to Count Jos de Kinsky, a loyal leader.

The former Empress has sold all her jewels, according to the Count. The income from her estates in Hungary is insufficient to meet her expenses in case of Hungary's depreciation. She is now planning to live with her children in the castle of Goeden, near Budapest, and will promise not to interfere in politics, the royalist leader claims.

VETERAN COMPOSER AT G. Y. R. ENCAMPMENT

DES MOINES, Iowa, Oct. 11.—The writer of the "Music to Watch Through Generations," H. A. Waters of Athens, Ia., was among the thousands of Grand Army of the Republic veterans who attended the recent encampment at Des Moines. Mr. Waters was given the words to the famous song and to them composed a tune in 1914. A copy of the song is a copy of the song.

Waters was the youngest band master in the civil war, being then only 17 years of age. He was with the 1st Iowa Cavalry in Pennsylvania during the war.

In more recent years, he has been prominent in musical circles. Despite his 70 years, Waters is still able to duet his friends with his playing upon the piano.

PRINCIPLES AND PURPOSES OF TRAVELERS ASSOCIATION

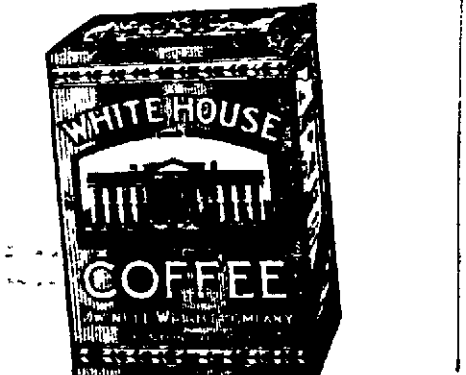

The Travelers Protective Association was organized on the 11th of February, 1887, at the Linn House, Ohio with 21 charter members. "The objects of this Association are to bring about a better acquaintance of persons engaged as commercial travelers, to secure a reduction of passenger rates to commercial travelers on all lines of transportation, to obtain a fair and equitable allowance of baggage to persons traveling with their families, to secure hotel accommodations commensurate with prices paid, to elevate social and moral character of commercial travelers as a profession, to provide pleasant social amusement and entertainment for our members on the road, and to secure through our National Employment Bureau, employment for members of our Association, to secure the abolishment of all local State or county licenses exacted from commercial travelers."

The first legal fight to secure any of these objects was in Texas where a member of the T. P. A. declined to pay a county and State license to sell goods, allowed himself to be arrested for selling goods without license, carried the case through the Supreme Court winning the case, which caused the abolishment of this law in all parts of the United States.

The next big fight on the part of the T. P. A. was that to secure inalienable mileage, which had to be carried to the Senate of the United States and afterwards through all the courts of the land before many of the "roads" allowed it. A bill suggested by the T. P. A. was offered in Congress by Mr. O. N. Smith of Pennsylvania, and finally made a law. Senator Quay in a speech in the Senate advocating this bill said: "Probably the most influential organization of commercial travelers in the United States is the Travelers Protective Association of America. It is under the auspices of this organization that this bill was drawn and submitted." This speech was made in 1891, and even at this early day the T. P. A. was recognized nationally as an important factor in the business and commercial activities of the nation.

The Travelers Protective Association of America was re-organized at the National Convention held at Denver, Colo. in June 1891, and at this time accident benefits for its members were added, and a charter for this purpose was secured under the Missouri state laws, with headquarters at St. Louis, Mo. For ten years the T. P. A. was strictly a commercial organization, working for better and more progressive commercial conditions all over the country. This aim or object has never been lost sight of by the Travelers Protective Association, and it is recognized today as the leading commercial organization of the country—a gigantic board of trade working at all times for progressive local, state and national commercial movements having originated with the members of the organization. The chair in the President's Cabinet styled the Department of Commerce, now filled by Secretary Hoover, was first suggested and finally pressed to a successful issue by the T. P. A.

WHITE HOUSE COFFEE

The bill proposing it was written by the late Col. John S. Harwood, Richmond, Va., a member of the Virginia Division T. P. A. of A. Every piece of interchangeable mileage used prior to the World War was directly due to the efforts of the T. P. A. The fight for the bill issued by the Eastern Tariff Association was staged in Virginia and the late Hon. A. C. Braxton, of Staunton, Va. was attorney for the T. P. A. in this long-drawn-out fight.

The new law to require the railways to again put mileage books on sale, which passed the last Congress and was signed by the President a few weeks ago, was largely due to the untiring efforts of the T. P. A. of America. The steel-car bill requiring the use of steel cars by the railways, passed some years ago, was introduced by the T. P. A. of A. Hundreds of similar things have been accomplished by the T. P. A. of A. In the forty-one years of its existence, but space is too limited to mention them all. The T. P. A. of A. of America, its members with a high-class accident policy, it is in no sense an accident company, but provides this protection for its members at cost as a side issue. Members who write applications do so without any commission or remuneration of any kind and their primary object is to induce him to become a member of a live commercial organization for the betterment of his home town, state and country.

The Virginia Division T. P. A. of A. was organized on April 23d, 1892, at Murphy's Hotel, Richmond, Va. R. S. Christian, of Richmond, was the first President of the Virginia Division. The National Convention was the guest of the Virginia Division, that year on June 13-14-15th, 1892, at the Hygeia Hotel, Old Point Comfort. Since that time Virginia has entertained the National Convention three times, again at Old Point Comfort in 1906 (Chamberlain Hotel); at Norfolk, Va., in 1907, and Richmond, Va. in 1913. The membership in Virginia has increased from 19 charter members in 1892 to 5,000 at the present time, while the National Association now has over 100,000 members.

The Virginia Division has accomplished many good things for the business men of Virginia with no cost to them for its activities. The Corporation Commission of Virginia is largely due to the activities of the T. P. A., as this Commission was first suggested at a State Convention of the T. P. A., and year after year was constantly and vigorously advocated, until the last Constitutional Convention gave it actual existence. The absent voter's law was proposed and pushed to successful conclusion by the Virginia Division T. P. A. of America, being the first law of its kind passed in any State in the union to allow all classes of voters who were absent from their homes on election day to vote. This bill was written and proposed by W. B. Crutten, a member of the T. P. A., and now President of Post Office, Richmond, Va. The Virginia Division has accomplished much for the commercial interests of Virginia, and stands ready at all times to co-operate with any and all commercial organizations in the State to advocate better roads and is actively behind this movement today.

Post "E" Danville, Va. T. P. A. of America was organized in 1895 and has always been one of the active posts of the State. Two Danville men have been honored as presidents of the Virginia State Division, J. Stanley Oliver (1895-1896) and Wm. H. Jones (1913-1914). The late Orlando Wemple was for long time a member of the State Board of Directors. He was succeeded by J. Overton Boatwright, who resigned a few years ago and was succeeded by

Golden Rule Even Works With Water

ROME G. BROWN
MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Oct. 11.—Laws pertaining to water rights are complex, devious and contradictory. Yet Rome G. Brown, lecturer on the law of water rights in the University of Minnesota law school, says they practically can be reduced to 17 words: "All things whatsoever ye would that men should do to you, do ye even so to them."

Yes, the Golden Rule, Mark 7:12. "Under the laws in some states today," says Brown, "surface waters, as a common enemy, can be driven off as a burglar, without regard to how they are gotten rid of or scattered. This is in line with the old common law rule."

Subsequent decisions show changes in the old rule in many states; the recognition of the principle of the Golden Rule. This, in effect, means the preservation of the right to dispose of surface waters but the method of their disposition must be such as to show proper regard for the owners of other lands.

"I regard the Golden Rule as the most concise and adequate statement that has ever been announced of the present and growing principles of the law of reasonable use."

A. D. Starling who is still a member of the Board.

The Travelers Protective Association publishes a magazine that has a paid circulation of over 100,000. The June issue had the following to say regarding the State Convention held in Danville May 5-6th, 1922:

"The Danville Convention was all right. The T. P. A. of America, Danville, always be counted on to do things right, so why dwell on something that is conceded and understood?"

The reception and banquet at Hyllon Hall Friday night was a red letter day in the T. P. A. history, made brighter and more lasting in the memory of every one who were privileged to attend by the presence of Virginia's beloved daughter, Nancy Langhorne Lady Astor, given to the city of Danville by her father, the Hon. John A. Aiken in a letter written to the chairmen of the finance committee said that he had found that nearly all of the ordinances passed at that time had been lost in the office of the clerk of the court and that in order to bring the city ordinances up to date it would be necessary to take the minutes of the council and comb them carefully and rewrite some of the laws. This Mr. Aiken reported in his letter would take about six

Holland said that the company regretted any curtailment of its force but protested that the company was not in business to give employment. He made the proposition a proposition saying that if they, as a group would pay the salary of two men then the company would pay the salaries of the other eight. No body took up the proposition. Mr. Holland refused the race question asserting that it was only a talking point. Colored people would pass white people only, he said, on emerging from the car.

He said that the company wanted the friendship and not the enmity of the public and that it was bent on giving the community a good transportation service. The company has in mind, he stated, the initiation of his lines to nearly cities to help build up the city but he pointed out that these things could not be done by staying the line and placing obstacles in its path. Something, he declared, had to be done as the company is not making any money, this being largely due to the increased number of automobiles in the city and the consequential wanting in patronage. Mr. Holland's talk closed the open forum and the question of the council was taken up. The street car ordinance being the first matter on the report of the finance committee. W. E. Gardner said he was not prepared to vote as the committee had withheld its recommendation. He needed time to study it. He moved to pass it by. J. H. Harrison said that it had been before the council for three months and that everyone was familiar with the matter. B. Carter was for delay and so was F. W. Townes who said that the company should be given an opportunity to show its receipts and the necessity for the action requested. The council on the resolution of the ordinance and the matter will come up at the next regular meeting.

The ordinance denying local policemen the right to keep fees collected under the state liquor law was presented. The council on the matter in its report felt that the policy of allowing a fee for specific offenses was a bad one and that the police are adequately paid. Another ordinance giving the mayor a fee every time he first time for the city just as the state does was adopted. By this the council hopes to increase the tribute which comes into the treasury from the police court.

The finance committee asked that its action be approved in settling claim made by Mrs. J. K. Lindsay who fell over a gas main and was hurt. The action was approved.

The council last night elected another school trustee to succeed E. K. Barker whose resignation was presented. Col. Carrington suggested getting together on a successor at the next meeting but Guy Walton said that the North Danville delegate had already settled on a man and pressed for action. Write the Colonel's further suggestion that the matter be not gone into too hastily O. G. Pentreas was the man named and he was elected from the third school district.

The question of bringing the city ordinances up today was brought up last night and definite action was taken looking to straightening out the city laws. At the present time the city ordinances are in a more or less chaotic state and lawyers have difficulty in finding them. Four or five years ago the ordinances were re-drafted by the city attorney E. Walton Brown. City Attorney J. M. Aiken in a letter written to the chairmen of the finance committee said that he had found that nearly all of the ordinances passed at that time had been lost in the office of the clerk of the court and that in order to bring the city ordinances up to date it would be necessary to take the minutes of the council and comb them carefully and rewrite some of the laws. This Mr. Aiken reported in his letter would take about six months time and he asked additional compensation of $2,000 for the work. Mr. Townes moved that the committee be instructed to have the work done and this was adopted.

Col. Carrington announced his intention of naming delegates to attend the Virginia League of Municipalities next week at representing Danville. He also called attention to misuse of the city streets asking Mr. Gardner, chairman of the public works committee why it was that a section of West Main street had been badly scarred. Mr. Gardner said there was an ordinance against it and the police department was ordered to watch for this kind of offense.

The troubles of the Good Samaritans, a colored organization were aired before the council last night. This is not the first time they have come up with E. H. Hunt council pleading the cause of the order. Hunt said that the organization is anxious to build a hall on Washington street and that it has complied with every city regulation yet the building permit is withheld. He told the council that the Samaritans are still out in the cold and he prayed for sympathy. Not so with Florence Wilson, colored and the venerable Sid Matthews, who appeared to protest against the Hall. (Continued on Page Four.)

Elderly Couple Find New Vigor Tanlac Again Proves Its Merit

Mr. and Mrs. George A. Davis, highly esteemed residents of Lansdowne, Md., who attribute their present good health to the use of Tanlac

That Tanlac is the ideal medicine for elderly persons has been proven thousands of cases, but it is doubtful if any case is as interesting as that of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Davis, well known and highly respected residents of Lansdowne, Md.

"I had pneumonia last spring, and it left me terribly weak," said Mrs. Davis. "My stomach was upset, I scarcely ate a thing and there was always a terrible pain in my back. But Tanlac gave me a splendid appetite, my nerves are steady and I have regained my strength so I feel twenty years younger."

"I spent hundreds of dollars trying to get well," said Mr. Davis. "but nothing gave me the relief I wanted until I took Tanlac. I had stomach trouble so bad I could hardly eat a thing, and even had to go on a soft boiled egg diet. I was so racked with pain and so weak and nervous that once I actually fell and broke my nose."

"But since taking Tanlac I now enjoy perfect health, have a fine appetite and my nerves are steady as a rock."

NOTE—The International Proprietaries Co., distributors of Tanlac, have on file in their offices at Atlanta, Georgia, over fifty thousand signed statements from representative men and women from every State in the Union and every Province of Canada. Many of these are from prominent people of this city and section and have been previously published in this paper. Tanlac is sold by all good druggists—adv.

One-Man Car In Danville For a Yearly Period

The council committee on finance last night bared its hand on the one-man street car, recommending to the full body that the ordinance covering the operation of the street cars here be amended so as to allow the use of one-man cars at certain intervals of the day. The feature of the recommendation is that the ordinance holds good for only a year and at the end of that time the street car company must renew its application. Early morning, noon and at the close of the business day street cars would be manned with two men as now but during the remainder of the day the entire system would be on a one-man basis. On Saturday there would be two men all day and on Sunday one-man cars would be operated all day.

The council took no action last night but deferred any definite step until the next regular meeting.

The street car matter was the piece de resistance of the council meeting last night and several persons were heard under the suspension of the rules. The all spoke of a single one-man car. Numerous women were present. W. R. Norton appearing for a large group of protestants said that he held a petition in his hand signed by 429 persons most of whom the council had signed. He urged the council to take action. He cited the elimination of the labor ticket, the six tickets for a quarter and finally the fare increase and assailed the proposed one-man car stating that there were other petitions out, these being about three thousand names in all.

Mrs. F. O. Kidd said in objecting to the cars that she spoke from experience and that they were most repulsive. She said that she had seen one of these cars and that it was a disgrace to the city and that it was a disgrace to the city and that it was a disgrace to the city.

C. G. Holland, president of the street car company, replied to those who attacked the proposed system. All the petitions, he said, came from the same source, and he said that the same stationery and written on the same typewriter. They came he said from the same source that has been hostile to the street car company and the same source that sought to bring up the Young Men's Business Club against the one man car—an attempt which was a failure. Kornerville, N. C.—Mrs. Wesley Mabe, who resides near here, says that her Black-Draught is kept in her home all the time, since it has proved very valuable when used to correct derangements of the liver, stomach and bowels, and to help prevent sickness from developing from such conditions.

"For dizziness, headaches, colds, and similar trouble, Black-Draught is a wonder," according to Mrs. Mabe. "It helps carry away bile and colds, the easiest of any medicine I ever saw."

"I have used Black-Draught with my whole family, and will continue to do so, as it has proven its worth. We are glad to recommend Black-Draught. My health is just fine."

Black-Draught has been found a useful adjunct in breaking up colds, when the use of a laxative or cathartic is indicated. It acts upon the liver as a tonic helping it to drive poisons and unhealthy matters from the system.

Blepharitis, dizziness, coated tongue, bitter taste in the mouth, often warn you that your liver is out of line. Don't neglect it. Prevention is better than cure. Take Black-Draught for your liver. Be sure you get Theodor's.

Blame Julius For Calendar Troubles

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—Julius Caesar, by his unrelenting juggling of the calendar, has caused unnecessary confusion for centuries, say members of the International Fixed Calendar League, who advocate the adoption of a 12-month year with each month containing twenty-eight days and an international holiday added each year to make up the 365 days of the solar calendar.

There is really no reason why the calendar should be so broken up, league members say. In the days of the ancient Egyptians, who originated the calendar, working with the shadows of pyramids and obelisks, the calendar was arranged with thirteen months of equal length, with a five days festival at the end of the year to square things up with the sun. The reason for the pyramids and obelisks was their use in astronomy and calendar making, it is said.

In 46 B. C. Julius Caesar, dissatisfied with the moon-chasing calendar of his day, adopted the Egyptian system—with modifications. The Romans were superstitious about odd numbers, so Julius started to do with the calendar as he had done with the world and when he was through the equal length months were all broken up, the five day festival was eliminated, and the months were arranged alternately with 30 and 31 days.

So pleased was the Roman Senate with Caesar's work, it immediately named the seventh month in his calendar in his honor, and the system is known as the Julian calendar.

The "worked for a while" until one of Caesar's successors, Augustus by name, changed his predecessor's work, in B. C. 28, and when his heavy hand was through, the calendar resulted in its present state, the odd and even numbered months were changed around and arbitrarily fixed. January was given a little more liberty than the other months, and the half-year was set on unequal bases, the first half getting only 181 days and the second 184. The Roman Senate retained by changing the name of the eighth month to honor Augustus, as Allenru has been tried and tested for years, and really marvelous results have been accomplished in the most severe cases where the suffering and agony was intense and pitiful and where the patient was helpless.

Mr. James H. Allen, of Rochester, N. Y., the discoverer of Allenru, who for many years suffered torments of acute rheumatism, desires all sufferers to know that he does not want a cent of any one's money unless Allenru actually conquers the worst of all diseases, and he has instructed druggists to guarantee it as above in every instance. that was his birth-month as July was Julius's.

"Constantine the Great" says a league publication, "confering the ever-welcome Sabbath rest each 7th day on Europeans; but the unequal lengths of 28 and 31 days months imposed by Julius and Augustus have since forced the Constantine weeks yearly to slice months into different weeks, and at month-ends almost split weeks into parts, incessantly but needlessly confusing weeks and months."

In 1582 another change was made, when Pope Gregory XIII found Julius had been wrong in his arithmetic and made an error in computing leap years, and that as a result ten extra days had piled up from somewhere in the meanwhile. The sun and earth, according to that time-table, were not traveling on the same schedule. So Gregory did what many other people have often wished they could do—he dug out ten days from one month—October of that year—and threw them into the discard, in order to readjust the 21st of March to the Equinox and the rest of the calendar to the seasons.

Since then we have been traveling under the Gregorian calendar. In consequence, the league complains, Gregory moved the Christian year's end (which ever the establishment of the Christian era had been celebrated, Christmas) from Christmas to January 1st—one week farther away from nature's year's end, December 22nd. Russia and Greece alone did not comply with that edict, and continue as of old.

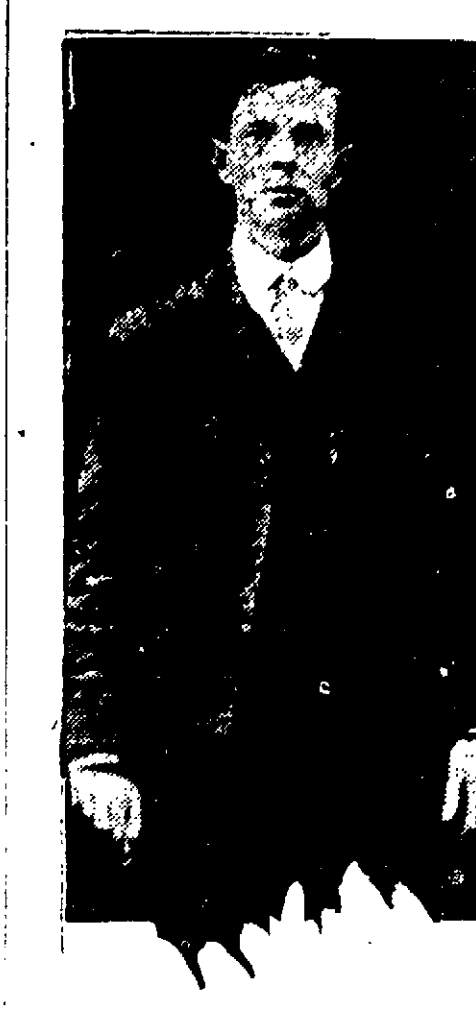

After several national and international conferences during 1922, of which the league complains, a final international conference was planned to be held sometime during the coming year. It will be held here at the president's call. Many representatives of world nations will attend, to discuss a program which includes:

Location of the "Year Day" removal of "leap day" to be a midsummer holiday, the best arrangement to fit the present 32 yearly weeks into permanent months, a name for the proposed month "Sol," the best date on which to begin the "year" or equal month year (tentatively set at 1928), and to "draft" recommendations concerning the above into legislative form for adoption by all nations and permit that standard bill to their respective governments to insert their national holidays therein and together make it law for their respective nations.

Interested in the movement, according to the league, are: International chambers of commerce, international conferences of European calendar advocates, the International Astronomical Union, International Roman Catholic churches (through the Vatican), the government of Canada, the Boy Scouts of Canada, and the international conference of United States and Canadian calendar associations have all unanimously endorsed the "International Fixed Calendar Plan," the best thus far devised to remedy the defects in existing calendars.

Practically, it is said, the revised calendar would aid in agriculture in preventing crop failures by planting at incorrect times, because the calendar calls for it. It would be of value to labor and capital alike. It is claimed, and would aid industry generally. It would equalize dating systems throughout the world, and, finally,

ALLIE HADLEY AND HIS WIFE ARE ATTENDING GRAMMAR SCHOOL.

BEAUMONT, Tex., Oct. 11.—Camped into one of the small desks of a local grammar school, Rev. Allie Hadley, minister, married, and a father sits poring over the seventh grade text books, reciting his lessons with the children. An 11-year-old boy is his deskmate.

Across the room sits his wife, who has entered the same classes.

Although he 26, Hadley plans to go right on attending school until he finishes college.

Regular attendance at school was denied both Hadley and his wife, who were raised in an isolated district, when children. This year, they decided to cease regretting their lack of education, enter school and go as far as their finances permit.

Must Earn Schooling

The Hadleys have only their own resources to put them through their fight for learning. Before he goes to

Ukraine Looks For Grain Crop

There are splendid crops this year in a few districts in the northern part of the Ukraine—equally as good in normal times. But in the south great stretches of land were affected by hot weather and there is not nearly enough breadstuffs to go around. Ukrainian officials say that with the aid of the central Soviet government they are making arrangements to transport 4,000,000 pounds of grain from the north to the south.

From districts where food has been scarce even in summer, people have been flocking to the towns. As a result there are as many beggars in the larger places as last year, when there was a crop failure. Some of the beggars are almost plump, while others are thin as can be. They resemble the pictures of hungry natives of India, and appear barely able to move about. In the poorer districts the village dogs too, have become beggars, like the dogs of India—gaunt, many creatures that eat ravenously even the most palatable and apple peelings thrown from the car windows.

In addition to its fair grain crop in the North this season, the Ukraine has produced also about 13,000,000 pounds of beet sugar, three times more than last season, but barely enough for the 20,000,000 inhabitants of the Ukraine Soviet republic itself.

Ukraine officials say they have plenty of potatoes this year, and that from present indications, as the fall planting there are prospects of nearly a normal grain crop for 1923. They believe, would but the country on its feet again.

Aircraft Boon To Business

DETROIT, Oct. 11.—The importance of aeronautical development from the standpoint of the nation's bankers; the United States postal service; and the business men of the country was stressed here today by speakers at the First National Air Institute. The institute was preliminary to the Pulitzer races and Aero Congress, that begin tomorrow and continue through Saturday.

The institute was participated in by the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce, the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, the American Society of Automotive Engineers, the American Air Association and National Aircraft Underwriters Association.

Commercial banks of the country need aviation because development of this science would be a spur to business, Lewis L. Pierson, chairman of the board of directors of the First National Bank of New York City, told the institute. The continent soon will be spanned by mail planes in from 20 to 30 hours, Paul Henderson, second assistant postmaster general, told the institute.

"I see in the airplane a means of transportation destined to be equally as important in the future life of our country as is the steam locomotive and automobile," he said. "The people are entitled to the advantage of additional speed in handling their mail on the airplane line offered in the form of improved airplanes."

The speaker said his department hoped soon to make mail by airplane a regular service from New York to San Francisco.

The speaker said that in the future the airplane will be the backbone of the transportation and communications system of the country. school, Hadley delivers a morning newspaper route. After classes and on Saturdays he devotes his time to odd jobs. Mrs. Hadley, too, devotes her out-of-school time between home and baby and extra work for pin money.

The two-year-old Hadley baby offered the first difficulty. It took some little time to arrange for its care during school hours.

Hadley, however, showed up the first day of school unflustered. He took his place among the youngsters in the class. When school started, he asked permission to address the children.

Pupils Like Them

He told of the hardships of his youth, the handicap of lacking the world without book learning. Pupils who had been disposed to snicker at the grown-up student were profoundly impressed. They loudly applauded.

him, and when at recess, he pointed the boys in their games, he was duly elected a "regular guy."

Mrs. Hadley became equally popular among the girls. The two adult pupils have been given the job of arbitrating all playground disputes.

Hadley, through intensive study of the Bible and his ability to talk, gained recognition as a local Baptist minister at Rose Pine, La. But he wants to become qualified to minister to the largest congregations. The theological seminary is his educational goal.

Meantime his wife intends to accompany him along his school journey.

"I am willing to work very hard to help us get an education," she says, "for if my husband becomes the type of minister he hopes to be, I must also have a college education. Much of marital misfortune is due to inequalities in education."

Furniture Much More In Demand Than Recently

(By J. C. ROYLE)

(C. B. Smith, 1922, By The Register) NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—All lines of furniture are subject to a stronger demand than at any time in recent years. Manufacturers and jobbers reported today that their operations showed an increase of fully 50 per cent. over those of a year ago. The trend in furniture and house furnishings is particularly significant because these lines show as plainly as any the influence of the factors which are shaping the modern movement in the whole business and commercial life of the country at the present time.

One of the chief influences in these, as in other lines, is the tremendous volume of building completed and under way. Over $1,000,000,000 worth of new homes and apartments have been furnished. The majority of these are being equipped in part at least with new furniture and house hold utensils. Hundreds of hotels have been constructed, especially in the smaller towns and this has necessitated large outlay for furniture, rugs, carpets and hotel equipment.

The expansion of commerce and industry has reflected in the opening of new offices and renewal of equipment in offices which had held expenditures to a minimum for over two years.

Prices have been fairly steady but there have been moderate increases due to causes which have affected practically all lines of manufacture. These include the tariff, the increased prices for lumber and glass, and the wage scales for both skilled artisans and cabinet makers and unskilled labor. Materials entering into the manufacture of metal furniture also have advanced correspondingly.

Manufacturers at Gray Rapids, a big furniture center, are complaining over the effects of the new tariff on glass. The higher glass schedules, they stated today, were interfering with the plans for expanding medium grade furniture sales through maintenance of low prices. The industry, as a whole, is near capacity production, but like other industries is hampered at every turn in making deliveries by the shortage of furniture care and lack of transportation facilities.

Hardwood lumber prices have experienced a decided boost upward within the last week and there is indication that furniture prices will continue to increase gradually for some time to come. No slackening in demand is indicated in view of the tremendous building programs in preparation for 1923.

Other household furnishings are following similar lines. The leather carpet and rug manufacturers of the country named their prices for spring yesterday and today. These showed increases of at least 5 per cent. although carpet wools are free under the Fordney-McCumber tariff. The shortage of wools of these grades, however, has been reflected in price advances. These prices are guaranteed against any recessions until May 1, in most instances but are subject to advances. Linoleums so far have shown the smallest price changes, although jobbers' discounts were reduced in some cases. Makers of pottery and kitchen ware in general are working their plants steadily toward capacity output. The aluminum utensil makers of Michigan and the Middle West are especially busy today and kitchenware manufacturers still are struggling over adjustments. The winter fuel situation is easing day by day, added materially by the

Stirs Officials in Murder Case

When New Brunswick (N. J.) officials said they had exhausted all clues in the murder of the Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall and Mrs. Eleanor Reinhardt Mills, his choir leader, vigorous action by Charlotte Mills, 16 (above), daughter of the slain woman, stirred local and state officials to action that has uncovered fresh details.

prevailing high temperatures. Shipments, however, are still far below mine output. Steel output also is well in excess of shipments and further expansion of this basic industry only awaits transportation improvements. The trend of orders in iron and steel is indicated by the announcement today that the pipe line of the Sinclair Oil Company from the Salt Creek field of Wyoming to Kansas will require 600 miles of eight-inch pipe and that this has been ordered for early delivery.

In the Northwest, killing frosts have aggravated the situation caused by freight car shortages. Millions of bushels of potatoes are piled on the ground there awaiting transportation to warehouses and markets.

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 10.—A verdict of not guilty was returned by a jury in the federal court here today in the case of Sheriff Harvey K. Persons, of Jasper County, charged with kidnapping and holding in peonage Robert Lee Griggs, an Atlanta negro. In his statement to the jury Sheriff Persons denied the negro's charges and said the latter was arrested in Atlanta on a warrant charging a misdemeanor and accepted Persons's offer to pay his fine provided he would work out the amount for the sheriff on the farm. He said there were no threats of violence to compel him to work.

Third Figure In Double Murder Has Been Jailed

(By the Associated Press)

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Oct. 10.—Prison bars closed tonight on a third important figure in the Hall-Mills murder mystery—but the incarceration, instead of helping clear the labyrinthine tangle of clues and counter-clues, served only to emphasize the difficulties the authorities are encountering in their efforts to check up the evidence on which 19-year-old Clifford Hayes stands accused of the double slaying.

The third to go to jail was Pearl Bahmer. She is the 15-year-old girl whom Raymond Schneider says Hayes thought he was slaying, with her father, when—according to Schneider's story—Hayes fired four bullets into the bodies of the Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall and Mrs. Eleanor Reinhardt Mills on the night of September 14, on the deserted Phillips farm. Schneider is held as a material witness.

Pearl was not officially jailed in connection with the Hall-Mills case. The charge against her—which she calmly admitted was incorrigibility. Prosecutor Stricker, of Middlesex County, appeared personally against her. County Judge Daly, departed from the rule of secrecy in juvenile case and threw his court open because he declared the people "have a right to know why she is being put in jail."

At the end of the hearing, after she had testified to intimacy with Schneider, or and her father, she was officially committed for a week, pending a decision on the incorrigibility charge. (Officially, it was said she was being given a chance to "think over" the conflicting stories she has told. An additional reason for her incarceration was said to be the fact that she was too difficult to find when she was wanted for questioning. Nicholas Bahmer later was arrested as a result of the charges preferred by his daughter and held in $10,000 bail following his arraignment.

Schneider, it was disclosed today, told four different stories about his knowledge of the slaying before he reached the story of Hayes's commitment of the crime, on which the authorities acted. After he had been trapped in prevarications in the first four, said a state trooper who was present throughout the long grilling, Schneider would say "Well let's go back and start all over again. I'll tell the truth this time."

His final story fails to jibe with facts about the murder brought out from other sources—notably his insistence that neither Hayes nor he had cut Mrs. Mills' throat after the shooting, although an autopsy showed the head had been almost severed.

Schneider says it was about one o'clock when Hayes shot the minister and the choir singer "by mistake." All other witnesses have agreed that the screams and shots which must have written him to the Hall-Mills romance were heard at about 10:30 o'clock.

Despite these and many other apparent conflicts in his story, Prosecutor Beckman, of Somerset, insisted he had evidence enough against Hayes to justify the charge against him and said he believed he could convict Hayes on evidence now in his possession. He refused to disclose the nature of this evidence, however.

Hayes, in the meantime, is in the county jail at Somerville, awaiting action by the Somerset grand jury, and protesting his innocence of Schneider's charges. He adhered to his original story. Detectives and state troopers continued their efforts to uncover more

ASCOSTA BARRED AS NAVY PILOT

MOUNT CLEMENS, Mich., Oct. 10.—Bert Acosta, widely known airplane pilot, has been barred from participation as a naval pilot, in the Pulitzer races, to be held at Selfridge Field Saturday, it was announced tonight.

Acosta had planned to drive the navy's Bee Line racer, his entry being made possible by a special commission. This plan, however, brought the objection that such a course might be construed as a reflection upon the ability of the regular naval pilots, and an order from the navy department that the Bee Line racer be driven by a regular officer, was issued.

The Pulitzer race was won by Acosta at Omaha last year in a Custer navy racer which he drove at a speed of 175 miles an hour. In a recent test of the Bee Line racer he was timed at 213 miles an hour.

CHANGE DATE OF GAME

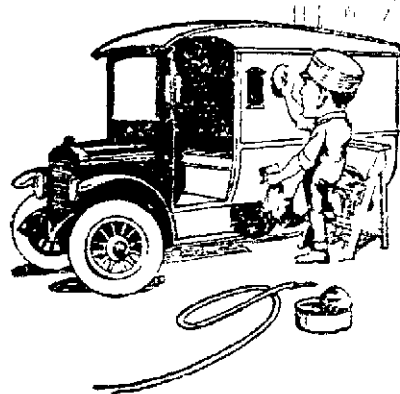

HAMPDEN-SIDNEY, Va., Oct. 10.—In order that there might not be any confusion for fans interested in the V. P. I. game, the managers of both the Hampden-Sidney-Lynchburg college game, the managers of both the latter teams have agreed to change the date of playing from Saturday to Friday. The Lynchburgers will journey to the Tiger institution where the only home game for Hampden-Sidney will be played in the afternoon in Death Valley.

Coach Roundy's youngsters are in first rate condition since the game with Trinity on Saturday. Roundy has been out working exceptionally hard for the game on Friday, having discovered numerous weaknesses in his machine in the game last Saturday.

There is no doubt but that Roundy will make several shifts in his team this week. At present the team is very weak in the quarterback's position. Coach Roundy is unable to find a man that can fill this position capably. What Roundy needs is a man with skill. If a man can be developed to meet these qualifications by the next big game, the Tiger team will be greatly strengthened.

CANADIAN'S FARM BECOMES SANCTUARY FOR GAME BIRDS

KINGSVILLE, Ont., Oct. 11.—High in the air, honking as they fly in V-shaped formations, thousands of wild geese are now sweeping into the United States from Hudson Bay districts, driven by their migratory instinct.

Unerringly, the leaders head for Kingsville. When the 200-acre farm of Jack Miner near here is sighted the honking flocks descend to find food in abundance, an attractive lake and security. A day or two is spent in feeding and resting, then the flight resumes. Within a few hours, other flocks of geese and ducks from the north take their places.

The food instinct is strongest when the spring and fall migrations are under way. Yet an overall-clad man moves among the wildlings as the resting place and creates no more disturbance than if he were in a poultry yard. Let any other person enter alone, the birds quickly fly away.

Birds Trust Him
Jack Miner has been accepted by North America's migratory game birds as their protector. They have proven worth of Miner's hobby, and his is a bird refuge. Shooting is prohibited within two miles.

Every year, Miner traps hundreds of birds in a wire cage. These he bands with metal tags, enclosing Biblical quotations and a request that the hunter shooting the bird send all information to him.

Gets Travel Data
Through these returns, Miner has mapped the routes traveled by the different species. He is a recognized authority on bird migration.

And Miner's reward, he sums it up like this:

"To see my pets return to me year after year for food and protection after they have evidently shied around and awaited the thousands of hunters who hid in ambush for them, and to see wild geese coming home bleeding and with legs broken, knowing I will care for them, makes me feel that my work is really worth while."

INCREASE TO MACHINISTS

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 10.—An increase of two cents an hour in the pay of machinists, blacksmiths, boiler-makers and sheet metal workers employed by the Atlanta and West Point and Georgia Railroads and an extension of their working day from eight to nine hours, effective October 1, was announced here tonight by P. O. Walsh, superintendent of transportation of the A. & W. P. & O.

The pay increase will fix the wages of the workers at 72 cents an hour instead of present scale of 70 cents, and will effect approximately $300,000 on the two roads Mr. Walsh stated.

MIDDLEBROUGH, England, Oct. 10.—John Hatfield, an English swimmer, today swam 500 metres in six minutes 46.15 seconds, breaking the world record of Norman Ross, the American swimmer, six minutes 51.35 seconds made in Chicago in 1921.

PASSING OF THE "WHITE FRONT" LUNCH IS LIKELY

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—The passing of the "White Front" lunch room in favor of one with colors more likely to soothe the esthetic tastes of the diners was foreshadowed at today's session of the convention of the National Restaurant Association by speakers who arranged the cold aspect of white-tiled cafes. The white thing so popular in lunch rooms circles may be all right for sanitation purposes, but in this country where warmer tints are desirable in winter, other color schemes may become the vogue, most of the speakers agreed.

William Childs, of the Childs restaurant, told delegates that the color thing high far to supplant the plain white thing especially in the northern states. In the kitchen, where, presumably, chefs and dishwashers are not bothered by esthetic considerations, white is the best from the health standpoint, but the customers' mental processes "our front" must be warmed up in winter as well as his digestive apparatus.

Three stages of development in the industry were reviewed by other speakers. The first was that of allowing the hungry within the past decade, the second was to attract customers with special preparations and service and the third or present stage is to appeal to higher tastes of the prospective diner by perfecting the interior decoration of the cafe.

OFFICERS FIND MAMMOTH STILL

GREENSBORO, Oct. 10.—If Deputy Sheriff Mike Caffrey and Otis Apple had observed Sunday as a day of rest and inactivity the largest still ever found in Guilford county would have continued sitting on its turntable along a small stream about one half mile south of Friendship near the road leading to High Point. But these two deputies didn't think of resting; consequently a 200 gallon plant, copper from ton to bottom now rests in the basement of the courthouse awaiting the order of the county commissioners for it to be destroyed.

The outfit stands six feet high when the cap is in place. The cap is much older than the still and has a workmanship on it of the variety still ever found in Guilford county. The two deputies didn't think of resting; consequently a 200 gallon plant, copper from ton to bottom now rests in the basement of the courthouse awaiting the order of the county commissioners for it to be destroyed.

PROTEST USE OF FOREIGN SHIP

NOW DO MY WORK WITH EASE

Because Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored My Health

Hornell, N. Y.—"I was in bad health but there didn't seem to be any one thing the matter with me. I was tired out all over and it was an effort for me to move. I was irritable and could not sleep nights and had trouble with my bowels and at my periods. It seemed that nearly everyone around me knew of your medicine and wanted me to try it, so at last I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Tablets and Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine and improved every day. I do all my own work now except the washing and do it with ease. I can accomplish as much in a day now as it would have taken me a week to do last winter and I try to get every one I know to take your medicine to build them up. You are welcome to use this letter as a testimonial if you like."—Mrs. CHAS. BAKER, 21 Spencer Ave., Hornell, N. Y.

In almost every neighborhood there are women who know of the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. They know because they have taken it and have been helped. Why don't you give it a trial?

ROCKY MOUNT NEWS

ROCKY MOUNT, Va., Oct. 10.—Kiwanians of Martinsville and Roanoke will meet the citizens of Rocky Mount, in Rocky Mount, Thursday evening, October 12, 1934, at six o'clock at Hotel Rocky Mount, for the purpose of awakening interest and discussing plans to build the missing link of road between Rocky Mount and Roanoke, a much needed link in the National Highway via of Roanoke, Rocky Mount and Martinsville. This route has heretofore been agreed on and laid out by the State Commissioners. The citizens of Rocky Mount are pleased to welcome the Kiwanians of both cities and others who wish to be present at this meeting, and appropriate Martinsville co-operation in the road project. And the home citizens are urged to be present at this meeting. The Franklin county School Board convened here today, with a full attendance. It was a busy session, and much interest was manifested. The meeting of the board was the election of a clerk for the school board. Edwin Greer was elected. The repairing of several school buildings was discussed. The Oak Grove school three miles from Callways was stated as being unfitted for use during the winter. Mr. J. C. Fillman was appointed to investigate the buildings, and take action as he thinks best. The Hundley school at Snow Creek was established, and Miss Clara Collins was elected teacher of the school; the school to begin October 15th. Each member of the board was given power to have the school buildings in this district fixed comfortable for the session, such as all needed repairs, buying stoves, and seeing to securing fuel. Adjourned to next monthly meeting.

Land Convicted On Arson Charge

MARTINSVILLE, Va., Oct. 10.—The Circuit court of Henry county convened on Monday and the first case taken up was that of the Commonwealth vs. H. P. Land, under indictment for burning his car to secure the insurance thereon. Trial of this case began this afternoon at 2 o'clock and much of today was concluded this afternoon with a verdict of guilty and imposition of a penalty of two years imprisonment. William Pulliam, a white man 28 years old and employed at the American Furniture company's plant here, was found guilty of the murder of the Norfolk and Western railroad about 10 o'clock Sunday night. Percy Warren, who saw the man lying on the track as a train was approaching rapidly tried to flag the coming train with a flashlight, and this falling he caught the engine of the railroad and in order to stop the train, before this could be done, the engine had struck and mangled the man's body. Whether he was alive, awake or asleep on the track is not positively known. The man was unmarried.

Information has been received here of the arrest and detention of one Holden, who escaped from jail here recently while being held as an important witness in the Hughes Mitchell murder case. The man suspected and practically known to be the murderer is Hector Brown, a negro, who has not yet been apprehended. Ewell Cox, another figure in this case, has himself been killed since the Mitchell murder.

First Night of Danville Fair Well Attended

thought there were a few shows which were not operating. There were also the stunts which had been completed also. The Ferris wheel was doing good business last night as was the Merry-go-round, mostly the children patronizing this. The Whip, a popular riding device always, had not yet been tried. The shooting gallery, which will be running full blast today. The weather had retarded the efforts of the workers in getting some of the paraphernalia up. The free attractions and fire-work were probably the most popular attractions last night. By 8 o'clock a large crowd had gathered in front of the free act stand. There were five acts in all, each of them receiving applause attesting the fact that they were enjoyed by the multitude. To choose any one as a feature but the horse riding act put on by the Duttons probably brought most applause. The acrobatic act also went over good, four of the performers being children, and their stunts were difficult and well served special mention. There was also a posing act and a tight wire walking performance. The free attractions will be given twice daily, 2:30 in the afternoon and 8 o'clock at night. Bad weather has prevented and accompany each of the performances. There will also be a band concert each morning soon after the gates are opened to the public. The display of fireworks lasted for nearly half an hour, the most brilliant were dazzling in their brilliance while others literally fanned the ground beneath ones feet from the concussion caused by explosion of the large bombs. Something new in the line of rockets was also mingled with the more common variety seen here in the previous fairs.

After the fireworks display the regular night performances on the midway began and the crowd spread in various directions to take in these. Many preferring a round in the exhibit halls to look over the various exhibits.

Today will be known as Carolina day while tomorrow, when everything will be in full swing, has been set aside as Danville day. Friday, the last day of the Fair will be Children's day. The Fair got under way formally in the afternoon at about three o'clock when three fire-eaters, three jugglers, three clowns, a balancing act and a quintette of acrobats. There were also a trick mule and his driver with innumerable vests which he shed frequently, and a touch of levity to the otherwise more serious programme. The concert band was playing but the attendance was sparse not more than a double line surrounding the enclosure within which the attractions are being given. At that time the Fair could not be called complete for concessionaries delayed by the inclement weather had not had time to erect their booths. Here and there motor trucks groaned and whirled their way with sliding wheels through the moist earth and a motor tractor, its radiator steaming was pulling giant show wagons into place and doing its utmost to get the fair stage set for the evening performance. Truck loads of cinders and sawdust and shavings were continuously arriving and trying to make what was a morose, in parts, fit to be walked upon by the time the expected crowds arrived.

The ballyhoo was quiet during the afternoon and no serious effort was made to run the shows. Many of the afternoon patrons contented themselves with viewing the exhibition halls which this year are finer than usual.

The agricultural building was generally voted as exceptionally handsome with its display of farm products. As usual Patrick county's staple industry is well represented and the entire far end of the hall is given over to a display of apples. C. H. Bradshaw who has had a great deal to do with the successful apple exhibits in the past said yesterday that the exhibit this year was the best he had ever seen owing to the exceptional size and perfect formation of the fruit. There are more than fifty different types of apples to be seen and all of them are from Patrick and Henry counties. The range in color is from the rosy red of the wineapple to deep greens and bright yellows, some of the apples weighing over two pounds each.

Mr. Bradshaw has an exhibit of the Knob Apple Orchard Company of Preston and W. D. Conner of Patrick also has twenty different varieties of the fruit his being the central display.

The individual farm exhibits are variegated and comprehensive. Mrs. L. G. Carter, of Pehlam, N. C., took the blue ribbon with a variety of farm products too numerous to list here. The second prize went to George Barrow, overseer of Col. Harden Hairston's farm at Chatmos, J. C. Lawrence R. F. D. No. 4 won the third prize.

W. M. Perry, county demonstration agent, has a miniature farm with various crops growing. It is a neatly laid out model farm all of the work having been done or supervised by him.

There is a great variety of grasses and grains and the market garden exhibit tested some handsome displays. That of L. W. Furdum, large trucker near Danville is well worth viewing especially the lettuce which rivals a full grown cabbage.

The tobacco awards made yesterday at the Fair are as follows:

Best Lemon Wrapper, 1st R. L. Winston, Roxboro, N. C., 2nd L. G. Stevens, Roxboro, Winstear and Teyan, Roxboro. Best Bright Orange wrapper 1st J. H. Warren, 2nd R. L. Winstead 3rd L. G. Stevens. HUMOR'S SOBER SIDE!

(By JOSEPHINE VAN RE GRIFT)

Christopher Corley, whose cogitations upon men and manners under the heading, "The Bowling Green," are issued daily from his little office in the New York Evening Post Building, is a humorist that it embraces him to be called a humorist.

"I feel just like one of those bugs," he says, "that has lain snug and cozy under a nice cool rock for a couple of years. Then suddenly somebody lifts the rock and all at once he feels sort of exposed."

"Of course, anyone who runs a column, I suppose, lays himself open to the accusation of being a humorist. I wish I were."

"I think a humorist is the most useful creature in the world. But being a humorist has its compensations, too. You form some wonderful human contacts like that of Peddler Tingle, for instance. (Jedediah Tingle is the unknown philanthropist who makes a business of mailing checks to the people who please him. He once mailed one to Morley.)

"The drawback," says Morley, "is that five nights out of six I go home feeling like I'd like to jump off the cliff—that I've desecrated every friendship and blasted my reputation."

"A newspaper editor—now that's a job for you! I'd like to be a newspaper editor. He's got the whole dignity of the paper behind him and he gets away with a lot of stuff."

"With you books—The Home Book of Verse, Shakespeare, Walt Whitman and Roswell's Life of Johnson—I'd go into any newspaper office in the world and guarantee to turn out good editorials."

Politician Kills His Drinking Mate

Harry Sutphin, Editor and Deputy Sheriff of Queens, Shoots Friend on Street—Victim "Teased" Slayer.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—Harry Sutphin, sixty-four, living with his family at Alsop street and Shelton avenue, Jamaica, shot and killed William Biermann, twenty-eight, yesterday morning, during an altercation outside the entrance to the Alsop street apartment house.

Sutphin and Biermann, according to the Jamaica police, had been drinking together all night. They had been friends several years. Acquaintances of the men say Biermann had a habit of teasing Sutphin, and that yesterday morning Sutphin, after breakfast with Biermann wanted to be taken home.

Biermann accompanied him. A quarrel ensued. According to witnesses, Biermann was cursing his companion and Sutphin replied: "I've pleaded with you all evening to let me alone and now stop," whereupon Biermann struck Sutphin and the latter drew a revolver and fired. The shot struck Biermann in the chest. He fell dead across the steps of the apartment house.

Patrolman Emil Kucker of the Jamaica Precinct, who heard the shot fired, placed Sutphin under arrest in his apartment.

According to their testimony Martin Siebert, driver of the taxi in which Sutphin and Biermann rode, Charles E. Stovall, janitor of the Alsop apartments, and Wesley Bullock, a negro, all of Jamaica, saw the shooting. The three made statements to District Attorney William J. Clegg.

The janitor said in his statement: "Biermann was trying to force open the front door. I told him he could not come in. He said he wanted to get the old man upstairs to bed. Then I looked over his shoulder and saw Mr. Sutphin. I ordered Biermann away and told him Mr. Sutphin could go upstairs himself when he wanted to. Mr. Sutphin said: 'I can get upstairs all right, but I leave alone Queens.' You've been nicin' on me all night. The young man tried to force Sutphin into the house."

"Then Biermann seemed to get angry. He called Mr. Sutphin a vile name. I'll never forget it. He told him, Biermann had left Sutphin and was again close to the front door. I had stepped between them. It was Biermann who was hoarse. As he said he'd bust Mr. Sutphin in the nose, Sutphin suddenly pulled a revolver out of his pocket. He fired one shot. The bullet went between my legs. I saw Biermann crumple up on the front steps. Mr. Sutphin put his revolver back in his pocket and did not seem a bit excited. He walked about and told me I had better get an ambulance."

Bullock's statement was that he heard the men quarrelling and looked in to see the shot fired. He said Stovall did not come out of the apartment house until after the shot. Siebert saw the shooting but was not close enough to hear what they were quarrelling over.

When arrested, charged with homicide, Sutphin, through his attorney, Ex-Municipal Judge Kennedy, pleaded not guilty, and was held without bail for an examination tomorrow. He was taken to the county jail in Long Island City.

Sutphin made the following statement to the District Attorney: "He had been striking me all evening and couldn't stand it any longer."

Sutphin was formerly Deputy Commissioner of Public Works and for many years edited the Borough Bulletin a weekly paper. He is at present a deputy sheriff. His father, the late John H. Sutphin was for thirty-two years county clerk and during that time was Democratic leader of Queens county.

Sutphin did not appear to realize the seriousness of his situation. He greeted newspaper men cordially and seemed to be happy. He was a practical hand and could draw a pistol quickly or shoot through the coat pocket. The body of Biermann, although the shooting took place between 7:30 and 7:45 p. m., was not removed from the apartment house until noon, owing to some misunderstanding among officials with respect to photographing the scene. Meanwhile, school children, men and women passing and occupants of the apartment going in and out were subjected to the gruesome sight.

Biermann lived at the Binebink Hotel, corner Fulton street and Farmer avenue, Hollis, with his mother and stepfather, William Binebink, who is proprietor of the hotel.

The court decided the contract had been annulled when the roads were taken over by the government.

RUSSIA'S PARTICIPATION WILL BE OPPOSED

PARIS, Oct. 10.—(By The Associated Press)—Participation of the Russian Soviet Government in the conference eventually to be held for the restoration of peace in the Near East will be opposed by the allies. It is said in well informed circles here. If the council of the League of Nations, however, desires that Russia shall be represented in the regulation of the freedom of the Danubian, there probably would be little resistance on the part of the allies.

Son Slays Aged Father Unable to Earn Living

CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 10.—William Klockzin, 77 years old, feeble and unable to earn a living, was slain with an ax by his son, Holmuth, 33, after the latter found no supper in the house last night, according to a confession attributed to the son by the police today.

The slaying was one of two killings which, with the wounding of a young woman, swelled the crime reports at police headquarters.

Two men were stabbed by George Novak, 27 years old, who said his home was in Jersey City, N. J. The victims, Harry Plauder, a saloon keeper, and Frank Murik, said Novak had insulted a woman and that he stabbed them for interfering.
